THE BANK TAX AND REVENUE STAMPS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—At the meeting of the House Committee on Banking and Currency yesterday, Mr. Price called up his bill to abolish the internal revenue tax on the deposits of National banks. Mr. Davis, of North Carolina, offered his amendment providing for the abolishment of a similar tax on the deposits of state banks. This was voted down by a majority of five to three. Then Mr. Lounsberry moved to repeal the law requiring a two cent stamp to be placed on bank checks and to attach the repealing clause to Price's bill. This was adopted by the same vote. Then Price's bill was voted upon as amended, and the result was a tie, which was equivalent to a defeat. The members of the committee present were: Buckner, Ewing, Price, Lounsberry, Davis, Ladd, Crapo and Fort. The absent members were Chittenden, Young of Tennessee, and Lewis of Alabama. Price will try to get his bill up again, but with a full committee there will be one majority against it, so it will probably never be reported to the House.

HALLETT KILBOURN'S SUIT.

The case of Hallett Kilbourn against the House of Representatives for $150,000 damages for false imprisonment has been argued, and is now in the hands of the Supreme Court of the United States. It will be remembered that during the investigations of 1876 a Congressional committee called upon Mr. Kilbourn, who was a private citizen, to produce the private books and papers of his real estate business, hoping to catch President Grant in what was known as the "Real Estate Pool." Mr. Kilbourn declined to do so, holding that he was accused of no crime and his papers were not subject to the subpœna of the House. The House imprisoned him for contempt, and his suit is for the purpose of testing the authority of Congress.

THE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE'S WORK.

The House Judiciary Committee is hearing arguments in favor of a new trade mark law, and will try and obviate the passage of a constitutional amendment, which now seems a necessity. The committee have agreed upon a bill amending of sections one, two, three and ten of the act of March, 1875, relating to the removal of causes from State courts to Federal courts. The bill adopted is that introduced by Mr. Culbertson. The changes made in existing laws are very important, and its object is political effect in the South. The Republicans will oppose its passage, as they have that of a similar but worse bill, reported from the Committee on the Revision of the Laws and now on the calendar.

THE RENEWAL OF PATENTS.

Senator Hoar presented a report from the Committee on Patents on the petition for an extension which embodies the conclusions of the committee in regard to all applications for the expenses. These conclusions will be of interest to all who may contemplate applying to Congress for the renewal of a patent, and they are as follows:

"The patent which the petitioner seeks to extend was granted Aug. 4, 1862, for seventeen years. We are not prepared to affirm that no seventeen-year patent should be extended, but we think such extensions should be granted in very rare cases, and only when it is very clearly proved: First, that the invention was of great public value; second, that the inventor has failed to receive reasonable compensation for the labor and time spent in perfecting his invention; third, that the failure was without his fault; and fourth, that there is a reasonable prospect that the proposed extension would secure him such compensation. Petitioners should be held to a reasonably strict proof as to all these particulars, and if by neglect to keep accounts, or for any other reason, they are unable to establish their case, they must submit to the operation of the general law."

MILITARY VISITORS.

A company of Maryland militia, which has been to Annapolis, where it participated in the inauguration of Gov. Hamilton, has come here on the way home, and we have again the once familiar sight of uniforms in the galleries of the two houses.

THE FITZ JOHN PORTER CASE.

The House Military Committee this morning decided to hear the report of the subcommittee in the Fitz John Porter case. This was done by a strict party vote, and the indications are that the entire case will be conducted in a partisan manner.

DISCUSSION OF WOOD'S FUNDING BILL.

The Ways and Means Committee began the discussion of Wood's 3½ per cent. funding bill. The debate today was mainly confined to the question of the length of the bond. There is as yet no indication of the public action of the committee.

ALABAMA'S NEW SENATOR.

THE BAYARD RESOLUTION.

Senator Allison reported back the Bayard resolution from the Committee on Finance adversely. Senator Bayard made a minority report approving the Bayard resolution.

THE SPRINGFIELD & NEW LONDON RAILROAD.

Disagreement on Funding Propositions—Gen. Butler and the Maine Fusionists.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Senate Pacific Railroad Committee today authorized Senator Dawes to report the bill, which passed the House, granting a right of way to the Springfield & New London Railroad over the Government reservation in Springfield. Senator Dawes says he will call up the bill for action as soon as the report is printed.

The committee on Ways and Means had a long discussion today on five funding propositions before them. A member of the committee remarked after adjournment that it was evident no one proposition could secure a majority of the committee, and indications are that these propositions will be reported with a view of action in the House. Wood's three and a half per cent. bill is strongly opposed by Democrats and Republicans. Southern Democrats want long three per cent. bonds, and if not that will favor Judge Kelley's three-sixty-five bonds. The committee are unanimously opposed to permitting funding through a syndicate.

General Butler received a despatch late last evening from Maine Fusionists, requesting him to act as their attorney before the court. He informed them in reply that his business engagements were such as prevented his acceptance.

BAYARD'S BILL.

Defeat of his Proposition to Deprive Legal-Tender Notes of Their Legal Tender Character.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Senator Bayard's bill to deprive the legal-tender notes of their legal-tender character met the fate, in the Senate finance committee this afternoon, that both its friends and its opponents expected. There was a tie vote, and, Senator Jones, of Nevada, who is absent, being opposed to it, there was an agreement that the bill should be reported upon adversely to the Senate. Messrs. Bayard, Kernan, Wallace and Morrill voted for it, and Messrs. Voorhees, Beck, Ferry and Allison voted against it. Counting Jones against it also, it will be seen that three Republican Senators are recorded against it and only one for it, while three Democratic Senators are recorded for it and only one against it. The report will be made to the Senate probably tomorrow, and a day fixed for a discussion. The meeting of the committee this afternoon was not a long one. The minds of the members were all made up beforehand, and there was nothing to do but to take a vote.

BLOCK ISLAND CABLE.

The President Signs the Bill.—Fifteen Thousand Dollars Appropriated for the Work.

WASHINGTON, Jan 15.—The President today signed a bill appropriating $15,000 to lay a cable from the main land of Rhode Island to Block Island, under the direction of the chief signal officer.

POLITICAL DUEL IN HUNGARY.

Fatal Wounding of a Member of Parliament.—Excitement and Riot in Pesth.

VIENNA, Jan. 15.—Special despatches from Pesth state that serious disturbances occurred in that city on Tuesday and Wednesday in consequence of a duel between Baron Maithenyi and Herr Verhoray, member of Parliament, in which the latter was fatally wounded, and that further trouble is feared. Herr Verhoray was the editor of a Hungarian radical newspaper in which he attacked Count Festetics, a fellow-member with Baron Maithenyi, of the aristocratic National Casino club, and Baron Maithenyi interfered in the matter. The partisans of Herr Verhoray say that Baron Maithenyi is a professional duellist, the best pistol shot in Hungary, and was put forward in the quarrel for the purpose of silencing Herr Verhoray, who is very distasteful to the aristocrats but popular with the masses. Last night a great crowd of students and workmen filled the streets in the neighborhood of the Casino club uttering hostile cries, and they finally stoned the windows of the club house. The police were repeatedly repulsed by the rioters, and finally two battalions of infantry charged them with fixed bayonets. Many persons were slightly hurt by stones, sticks and bayonets. About thirty of the rioters were arrested.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A despatch from Perth to Reuter's Telegram company says: "The rioting was renewed last night at a late hour and two persons were shot, but whether by the military or the rioters could not be ascertained. At midnight shots were fired at the soldiers from behind some wagons in the street. The perpetrators escaped." This looks like a barricade.

UNPOPULARITY OF GAMBETTA IN FRANCE.

An Important Ministerial Declaration of Free Trade.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A Paris despatch to the Times says: "Since installing himself in the Palais Bourbon, M. Gambetta, President of the Chamber of Deputies, has offended almost everybody by his pompous manners. He influences the ministerial decisions, and, if a minister ventures to resist one of his orders, he pursues him with implacable resentment until he has overthrown him.

"At a meeting of the Committee on the General Tariff, M. Tirard, Minister of Agriculture and Commerce, declared himself unreservedly for free trade, and declared that the policy of the government."

The first number of La Justice, a new radical newspaper, started by M. Clémenceau, member of the Chamber of Deputies from the Department of the Seine, made its appearance in Paris today. It demands the adoption by the government of a frankly popular policy and the application of the principle of equality in all matters, including amnesty.

The Paris correspondent of the Times says: "La Justice will be for M. Gambetta what the Républiqué Française was for MM. Thiers and MacMahon. It will make him unpopular with the democracy before he has consolidated his power over the more moderate element of the electorate."

Lamson Orders the Sheriff and Deputies Off Duty.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 15.—The following order was issued this afternoon:

AUGUSTA, Jan. 15, 1880.

William A. Libby, Sheriff of Kennebec Co.:

Dear Sir: The services of yourself and deputies are required no longer to protect the public buildings. You will please dismiss them at once.

Respectfully,
(Signed) JAMES D. LAMSON,
Acting Governor.

Sheriff Libby does not recognize Mr. Lamson as Governor, and declines to obey the order. He has ordered his deputies on duty tonight.

THE BRIBERY INVESTIGATION.

The bribery committee of the House held a meeting this afternoon. Mr. Clark, Greenbacker, the counted-in member of the House from Nobleboro', testified that about a week before the meeting of the Legislature, his brother came to him and informed him that a certain man wanted him to go and see him, and tell him if he would resign his position and give up his certificate he should have a good place in the Boston Custom House as long as the Republican party was in power. A few days after, a man came to see him whose name he positively refuses to give, and renewed the offer of a place in the custom house, and also $1000 in money, $500 down, and $500 more after the organization of the Legislature. He positively refused and the man wanted him to come afterwards to a house in Augusta. The man said the money he offered was his own. Mr. Clark was pressed exceedingly hard to give the man's name, but positively refused.

Alfred S. Kimball, county attorney of Oxford, was the next witness. He said he saw Swan in the Augusta house on Monday, the night of the organization, and Swan told him that he had been informed that they were making efforts to buy up Representatives; that he was going into it and get some money and expose them; saw Swan again at noon the next day, when he (Swan) showed him a roll of bills which he said he had received from Wallace R. White, if he would resign his seat in the House. This is contradictory of Swan's affidavit, wherein he says he went from the Court House, where he received the money, to the Granite National Bank, and obtained a draft. The investigation was here suspended for the afternoon.

GEN. CHAMBERLAIN COUNSELS MODERATION AND PATIENCE.

This evening Gov. Chamberlain issued the following address to the people of the state:

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 15, 1880.

To the People of Maine:

Believing that I ought to do everything to allay the agitation in the minds of citizens of this state, I hereby give assurance that up to this moment calm counsels have prevailed, and that I see no present occasion for public alarm. I regret that messages should be sent from any quarter which bring crowds of men of both political parties into this city. This is a great embarrassment in preserving the peace and in reaching a proper solution of the difficulties before us. Whatever threats are made I have no fears for my personal safety. If our people will feel a confidence that the dispositions made for their protection are sufficient, although not obtruded upon the public sight, and would all keep and counsel patience, so that the political and legal questions could be calmly considered, our trouble could soon be in the way for settlement. My attitude toward the Hon. Mr. Lamson, as a matter of duty, has been made known in my reply to his inquiry addressed to me on the 12th day of January. At the same time, I regard him as in a position to contribute in a high degree to the efforts to save us from anarchy and ruin, and justice requires me to say that he has, by all means in his power, aided keeping the field clear for a lawful and peaceful solution of the matters in issue.

(Signed) JOSHUA L. CHAMBERLAIN.

A REVOLUTIONARY PROGRAM

BOSTON, Jan. 15.—A dispatch to the Herald from Augusta says that the Fusionists held a caucus tonight, presumably to determine upon the course to be pursued hereafter. The meeting was secret. It is reported that they intend to proceed to the election of a Governor and state officers tomorrow, regardless of what may be the nature of the Supreme Court's decision of the questions submitted by the Republicans. It is also said that they will await until the decision is rendered before taking this step.

The Negro Exodus.

PETERSBURG, Va., Jan., 15.—One hundred colored emigrants, in charge of L. A. Dakhart, passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, arrived here this morning from Goldsboro', N. MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 15.—It is learned from a trustworthy source that the exodus of negroes to the North from Eastern Mississippi has been over one thousand during the last three weeks.

MONTREAL'S GRAIN TRADE.

Its Large Increase—The Cental System.

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—At the annual meeting of the Corn Exchange the report showed the receipts of grain for 1879 to be more than 23,000,000 bushels, which is larger than in any preceding year. The shipments were 22,700,000 bushels. The report contained a protest against discrimination in rates by the Grand Trunk Railway against Montreal. An excessive charge for towage and pilotage of sailing vessels is complained of. The hope is expressed that import duties on breadstuffs may be repealed. Reference is made to the defeat of the cental system in New York, for although the committee of the Corn Exchange is in favor of the system, yet it condemns a precipitate decision thereon. The report was unanimously adopted.

They will take the ground that although the archbishop holds the title in fee simple of all Church property, in effect he only holds it in trust for the diocese; also that he has never paid one dollar for the property, which has all been bought and paid for by priests and congregations of the diocese.

The Pittsburg riot losses, which aggregated nearly $5,000,000, are in a fair way of compromise. It is proposed to issue $2 600,000 five per cent. bonds, to run for ten years, to meet this compromised debt.

What Raw Grain Will Do!

Monday evening a four-horse team, owned by Chas. Taft, of Providence, came to Millbury with a driver to move the goods of Mr. S. J. Emerson to Providence. Arriving here at 6 o'clock, the horses were put up at D. A. Powers's stable, and soon afterwards two of them were taken sick with the colic. One of the pair, which cost $500, died, and the other will get well. The horses when at home were fed on steamed feed, while on the road they were fed on cracked corn, which probably caused the colic.—[Worcester Spy.

HOW A LIFE WAS SAVED!

THE LIFE OF
CHAS. S. PRENTICE
SAVED
BY THE USE OF
CURE.

The following letter proves that BRIGHT'S DISEASE, in its worst form, IS CURABLE:

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 15, 1879.

MESSRS. H. H. WARNER & CO., Rochester, N. Y.—Gentlemen: Having escaped death from Bright's disease by the use of your Remedy, I feel it a duty not only to acknowledge my gratitude to you personally, but also to bring my case before the public, and have those who are suffering similarly to judge whether a medicine not prepared by the "regulars" will cure the frightful malady or not.

In the summer of 1872 I was first taken ill, with symptoms which, I was informed, were those of Bright's disease. I went to Marquette, Mich., and called to my aid a physician of noted ability. After remaining a considerable time under his care, I found no improvement; on the contrary, my disease was considerably aggravated. I next placed myself in charge of one of the best physicians in Toledo, O., with no better result. I was then induced to try the skill of an eminent medical man in New York, and remained under his care six months. Finding myself growing steadily weaker, with no abatement of the kidney derangement, I began to despair of ever getting well.

In the summer of 1875 my friends induced me to go abroad, thinking, that the sea voyage, together with the superior skill of foreign medical men, might effect a cure. I succeeded in gaining an introduction to the celebrated Dr. Declat of Paris, and remained under his care fifteen months. He used in my case what is known as the carbolic treatment, and then every method which the most scientific men of the profession on the Continent were known to employ. No improvement being apparent, the services of Dr B., a gentleman of equal eminence, were next solicited. Seven months of careful treatment by this kind gentleman brought me to the beginning of the most aggravated symptoms of the disease. With swollen limbs, disordered liver, impaired digestion and serious irregularities of the heart, I proceeded to Manchester, Eng., and for five months my case baffled the skill of Dr. Roberts, one of the ablest men of his profession in England, and author of a work on diseases of the kidneys. His great knowledge did not avail in my case; and, finally, despairing of any improvement, much less a cure, I returned to my native land in the belief that I must soon die.

When I reached home two physicians were summoned, who, on subjecting samples of the urine to the test of heat and acid, discovered the presence of albumen in large proportion, while the microscope showed numerous casts. All this, together with the despairing look of my physicians, forced the agonizing conviction that death was inevitable. I then dismissed my medical attendants, with the intention of letting nature struggle on unaided to the end; for my confidence in the ability of medical men to cope with disordered kidneys had become, to say the least, greatly lessened. At this time, I weighed myself in the presence of several friends in the wholesale grocery establishment of Emerson & Co., Toledo, O., and turned the scales at 212½ pounds, 67½ pounds more than my ordinary weight when in health; in other words, the tissues of my body were saturated with 67½ pounds, or about 6¾ gallons of water.

Finally, while listlessly lingering in pain and anguish, I was informed by a lady residing on Plymouth avenue, Rochester, N. Y., that one Charles Craig of Charlotte had discovered a remedy for Bright's Disease, with which he had cured himself and many others. I immediately repaired to his residence by the lake, and after a treatment of five weeks with the remedy (now called "WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE"), all my symptoms abated, and I began to feel that I was almost a well man. I returned home, taking with me a quantity of the medicine, and now, although months have elapsed since I took the last dose, I joyfully declare myself absolutely well, both in mind and body.

Should you have occasion in the future to use this letter, you are at liberty to do so, and any one who hesitates to believe the conclusiveness of my statements, is respectfully referred to the following persons, who were aware of the character of my ailment, and the apparent hopelessness of my case: Mme. Le Blanc, 39 Rue Drowcot, Paris; Henri Du Bois, 11 Rue Malesherbes, Paris; Dr. Seiller, Bordeaux, France; Dr. F. Charsans, Rue Algine and Lucas Vichy, France; M. Jean Girin's, 51 Quai de la Molka; Bernard Bradshaw, Esq., 3 York Chambers, Adelphi, London; J. W. Long, Esq., London; John H. Wilver, New York; J. O. Rice, Toledo, O.; Thomas Daniels, Toledo, O.; J. The Newport Daily News and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon, (Sundays excepted,) at the News building, 137 Thames street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning, and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, the latest markets, and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large, 32 column paper, and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 15 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 00 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra, and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty five changes a year. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Somebody will be obliged to back down awfully in Maine.

The present Legislature of Louisiana was elected for four years.

Kentucky refuses to allow women to practice law within its borders.

Major Morrow defeated Chief Victoria and his band of Apaches on the 12th instant.

Frank Leslie's will leaves all his property to his wife. He has two sons and a granddaughter.

The arguments in the Hayden trial were concluded yesterday, and the case will go to the jury today. This will be the fifty-fifth day of the trial.

In Boston yesterday, in the Legislature, it was ordered that the circumstances of Miss Helen Ward's arrest for the murder of her mother be inquired into.

The defalcations of Cashier Rhoher of the Louisville (Ky.) Savings Bank will reach $67,000. The depositors lose nothing as the bank proposes to make the deficit good.

Yesterday nominations for the English and Russian missions were sent to the Senate, but failed to reach till after the adjournment to Monday. The names were not announced.

It is evident the Bayard resolution on finance stands no chance of adoption in Congress. It is to be hoped that this and all other schemes to tinker the currency will be promptly suppressed. Bayard has made a high bid for the Presidency in this attempt, but he will not win.

The Unitarians of the First Church in Providence are having lively times over a proposition to change pastors. Not content with discussing the merits of the present incumbent in the society meetings, they have gone into the newspapers and made an appeal to the general public.

A late and apparently reliable report from Menlo Park is to the effect that the carbon horseshoes, the main reliance of Mr. Edison in perfecting his electric light, have failed, and that in consequence the "wizard" has decided to suspend their further manufacture. Mr. Edison, however, is not downhearted, but will try again.

A Washington correspondent says that it is the opinion in Democratic circles that Horatio Seymour has clearly the lead for the Presidential nomination. Hancock men say that this is a ruse of Tilden, who knows Seymour cannot accept, and that in the event of his declination it can be managed around to Tilden again. It may be so, for there is no earthly probability that Mr. Seymour can be persuaded to be a candidate.

Mrs. Frederic W. Stevens gave her first ball of the season Wednesday night at her handsome residence, in New York, for which, with all its contents, it is understood that the sum of $800,000 has just been offered by Mrs. Mackay, of Paris, wife of the well known bonanza king. There was an unusual display of flowers and palms in the ball-room. Twelve hundred invitations had been issued. The cotillon began at 1 o'clock.

Cincinnati is taking steps to secure a general system of steam-heating. A select committee of the Board of Aldermen, appointed to investigate the subject, concluded their work last week by agreeing unanimously to report the bill authorizing the laying of pipes under the streets, which the Board of Councilmen have already passed. The committee made inquiries about the working of the system in Detroit and all the information they received was favorable to it.

A bill has appeared in the New York Legislature, providing that the election of presidential electors in that state shall henceforth be by choosing two at large and one in each congressional district. Thus each vote for president would bear the name of the elector for the district and of two electors at large for the state. It is calculated that, under this arrangement, 23 out of the 35 votes of the state would be Republican. But in that case the Republican candidate would have only those 23 and the Democratic 12, whereas under the present system the party which carries the state gets 35 votes and the other nothing.

Charles O'Conor of New York, who has always been known as a rigid Democrat, publishes a letter in the World, in which he gives his reasons for refusing to address a Democratic club. In the first place he declares that the Republicans of New York have an absolute and moral right to secure the electoral vote of that state by having the Republican Legislature appoint them. If the Republican Legislature does not do this it will be because the party is confident that it can carry the state by a fair vote. Mr. O'Connor also remarks with great frankness that the Democratic party, having abandoned its principles, ought to die.

No important or decisive action was taken by the Maine Legislature yesterday except to give another Fusionist a seat in the House. Crowds of excited Republicans are flocking to Augusta, and Gen. Chamberlain has issued an address to the people of the state urging them to remain quietly at their homes. He insists that there is no occasion for public alarm, and declares that acting Governor Lamson is simply doing his duty. A reply from the judges of the court to the twenty-seven questions submitted by the Republicans is expected tonight or tomorrow morning.

THE POSTOFFICES.

Some idea of the growth of the country and the intelligence of the people may be gathered from the postoffice statistics. Some facts recently brought out at Washington, as viewed in this light, are especially interesting. It is well known under the post office law the salaries of the postmasters bear a certain ratio to the cash receipts of each office. All offices, the receipts of which entitle the postmasters to a salary of $1,000 or over, are called Presidential offices—that is, the President appoints the postmasters, while when the salary is less than $1,000, the Postmaster-General selects the incumbents. The list of Presidential postoffices, according to the appointments recently made, shows a surprising growth of postal business, in some of the Western states particularly. There is also much in the figures that is otherwise very suggestive. Nebraska, with but one member of Congress, has twenty-six Presidential postoffices, while Tennessee, with ten members of Congress, has but seventeen Presidential postoffices. In Nebraska there are twenty six Presidential postoffices to one Congressman, and in Tennessee there is a trifle less than two. Colorado has one member of Congress to twenty one Presidential postoffices, and North Carolina has seven members of Congress to thirteen Presidential postoffices.

Such facts show the rapid growth of the West, and especially the increase of large towns and cities; and correspondingly they indicate the want of prosperity in the South. The absence of postoffices of the larger class in that section does not altogether arise from the sparseness of the population but also from its illiteracy and narrow mindedness. Where freedom of opinion is not allowed there can be no mental growth or intellectual activity.

COUNTING THE VOTE.

One of the most important duties for Congress to perform is to provide for the counting of the Electoral vote in a manner that admits of no uncertainties and leaves room for no disputes. The present provisions are not clearly understood and are capable of widely different interpretations. Evidence of this was furnished at the last presidential election when Congress had to create a new tribunal and leave, virtually, the result in the hands of parties to whom, under the constitution, it does not belong. It is a pity that the new and necessary provisions could not have been made when the two houses were controlled by the different parties, for then there could have been no suspicion of partisanship in the arrangement, as is very likely to be the case when the party which is to count makes all the laws concerning the method of counting. At present there are several propositions before Congress to remedy existing evils. That the members mean business is evident from the fact that the House has made what is known as the Bicknell bill, a special order for January 29. This Bicknell bill provides for the appointment of four tellers, two on the part of the Senate and two on the part of the House. All the certificates received by the President of the Senate are to be counted by Congress in the alphabetical order of the states. The two Houses together may reject any certificate whether there is a contesting certificate or not. If there be a contest the decision of the highest judicial tribunal of the state shall be exclusive, and the vote shall be counted in accordance therein, unless reversed by both Houses. If there are two decisions, by two courts each claiming to be the highest tribunal of the state, the decision held by both Houses to be that of the lawful tribunal shall be conclusive unless received by both Houses. The bill provides, however, that where there is a contest and no certified decision, or where there are two certified decisions, the contested votes shall be counted without the concurrence of both Houses. When the President of the Senate shall open an envelope containing a certificate he shall call for objections, and every objection must be in writing and signed both by a Senator and a Representative. Objections, are to be decided separately by each House, the Senate in the drawing. No debate is to be allowed, except when the Houses separate, and then discussion is to be limited to two hours in each House, and to five minute speeches. This bill is substantially the same as the Southern bill of the last Congress, and is antagonized by the Edmonds bill which differs from it chiefly in not giving Congress the power to go behind the returns. It is apparent that something is intended to be accomplished, as the bill is the special order until a vote shall be reached.

FAIR NEWPORT.

Under the head of Ideal Wealth a correspondent of the Providence Journal moralizes over our beloved city after this fashion:

We all know, as well as we know the proceedings of an insolvent court, that years ago Bishop Berkeley left his home in England and came to Newport to Christianize the tribe of savages who have always made their home in and about that place. Unfortunately he arrived there at the fashionable season, when taking a good look at Bellevue avenue, he made up his mind that it was too extensive a vineyard of wild grapes for one vine dresser, who would only dull his knife without improving the fruit, and that nothing could be done with a set of polo-riders and fox-hunters, but to leave them to those salutary reverses of fortune which often lop off all earthly foliage, to discover the star-studded firmament high over the head. One good spiritual man in Newport feels very much like a solitary Republican at a Democratic mass meeting—he sees ignorance which he cannot enlighten, and moral infirmities that he cannot heal, and as it is not required of us to be useless spectators of human suffering, when we cannot relieve, we may properly retire.

For these reasons Berkeley left Newport to its fate, and to this day, from the number of coat of arms to be found there upon donkey and dog carts, we have reason to infer that they still cling to the ancient superstition of transmigration of souls. Oh how dreadful to think that every live donkey may be that departed friend whom you formerly loved so much for his money and other amiable qualities.

Had Berkeley remained in Newport, the price of real estate would not have been so high, and the price of spring chickens very much lower; but his benevolent heart would have arranged their little fox hunts so that the animal should not get all the sport, and the young ladies and officiating clergymen all the compound fractures

ROGERS HIGH SCHOOL LECTURES.—Prof. Albert Harkness, of Brown University, will lecture before the senior class of the Rogers High school, tomorrow, Saturday, at 12 M., at the school building. Subject: "The Greek Drama." A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

THE SPANISH STUDENTS.—There will be much curiosity to see the Spanish Students, which were secured by Managers Abbey & Hickney for their Pantomime Company in the Opera House, this evening. There are fifteen of them in number, and dress the same as represented in their lithographs. The Students were offered, it is said, $1000 per week by Mr. Wm. Deutsch, manager of the Florences, but would not accept that amount to cross the Atlantic. All the Students are graduates of musical universities. A noticeable ornament is the ivory spoon worn in their caps signifying that they belong to the educated classes. In addition to their Spanish music, encores are given in popular English melodies, and "The Babies in Our Block" is being learned by them. The entire Humpty Dumpty with its attractions, said to excel any entertainment of the kind ever produced in this country, will appear.

JOSEPH RIGGS'S FUNERAL.—Mr. Riggs's funeral took place at his residence on Walnut street. Besides the large circle of immediate friends there were present all the workmen of Hazard's furniture establishment, the officers of the Veteran Artillery in uniform, and the Sons of Temperance in regalia. The services at the house were conducted by the Rev. W. I. Magill. At the grave Mr. Magill also read a short service, after which the Sons of Temperance closed the exercises by use of their beautiful and impressive ritual, which was listened to by those present with the closest attention. Mr. Riggs was sick for several weeks with a singular complication of diseases, which baffled all the means used to arrest them, for a long while, and when they left the system his strength was so far reduced that he could not rally.

JUSTICE COURT.

A complaint against Adelaide West as a lewd, wanton and lascivious person, was this day continued for one week.

A complaint against Bridget McCuen for an assault on Mary Lawless alleged to have been committed on the 9th instant, was continued to Tuesday next.

A complaint against Charles Morley, Jr., for vagrancy, was called up and continued for one week, and in default of bail he was committed to await his trial.

A paper on "The Disadvantage of City Boys," by Rev. Washington Gladden, of Springfield, Mass., is announced for an early number of St. Nicholas. The article is said to be based entirely on personal statistics gathered from a hundred prominent business men concerning their surroundings, habits of life, etc., during boyhood. The statements thus collected will, it is announced, exhibit a remarkable showing of the "Disadvantages of City Boys," and enforce strongly the author's hints toward a successful life. The paper, moreover, is addressed directly to the boys themselves.

A GOOD INSTITUTION.—The Newport Marine Society, which held its 128th annual meeting yesterday, is a most excellent institution, as well as one of the oldest in the city, of the beneficial order. When it was instituted, in 1752, the commerce of Newport was very extensive compared to what it is now, and the membership, composed entirely of those who were, or had been, masters of vessels, was large. During the hundred years succeeding that, the society prospered and accumulated a large fund (it is now some $25,000), notwithstanding its disbursements were large. The membership has now been reduced by deaths and the decline in the shipping interest, to about forty. Notwithstanding this, some fifteen hundred dollars a year are disbursed in benefits, mostly among the widows and orphans of deceased members. Though the membership is constantly diminishing by death the fund still remains, and being well invested, will continue to be a comfort to the needy in the future as it has in the past. —[Newport cor. Prov. Press.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

Miss Blanche De Loosey, a daughter of the late Chevalier De Loosey, formerly Austrian Consul-General in New York, was married Wednesday afternoon, to Mr. Charles May Oelrichs at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Theodore A. Havemeyer, Madison avenue, New York. The marriage service was performed by the Rev. Father Malone, of Brooklyn, assisted by the Rev. Dr. McGlynn, of St. Stephen's Church, and the Rev. Father Daly, of St. Francis Xavier.

The parlors were decorated with cut flowers and the halls and stairways with all varieties of japonicas and with ferns and palms. The art gallery was the scene of the marriage ceremony, and the bridal pair stood beneath a large floral canopy. On entering the gallery the bridal party passed though the conservatory and down a broad stairway which connects the two apartments. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr Theodore A. Havemeyer. Her dress was of white satin, trimmed with old point lace. This was also the material of her veil. She wore a wreath of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of violets.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Havemeyer—nieces of the bride and daughters of Mr. Theodore A. Havemeyer—Miss Oelrichs, a sister of the groom, and Miss Livingston, his niece. Their dresses were of white tulle over white silk, trimmed with white flowers and bouquets de corsage of Jacqueminot roses. In the place of veils or hats they wore white roses in the hair, and they carried in bracelet style baskets which were made of Leghorn straw and which were filled with Jacqueminot roses.

Mrs Havemeyer, the bride's sister, wore a white satin brocade dress which was trimmed with pearls, and she wore diamonds.

Mrs William Jay, a sister of the groom—who received with Mrs. Havemeyer—wore white satin.

The best man was Mr. Lloyd Mayer, of this city The ushers were Mr. Harry Oelrichs and Mr. Hugo Fritsch.

There was a reception after the wedding from 2 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The music was by Bernstein and the collation was by Mr. Havemeyer's chef.

After the reception the bride and groom left for Florida, where they will pass the remainder of the winter.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. James P. Kernochan and Miss Astor, Mrs. W. W. Astor, Miss Beckwith, Colonel and Mrs. Kip, Mrs. J. T. Gibert and the Misses Gibert, Mrs. L. P. Maturin Livingston and the Misses Livingston, Mrs. Cutting, Mr. and Mrs. John Lowry, Miss Jerome, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Travers and the Misses Travers, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. K. Vanderbilt and the Misses Smith and Colonel and Mrs. Delancy Kane.

CHURCH PICNICS AND EXCURSIONS.—A church cannot, as a corporation, engage in the sale of tickets to the public for an excursion on board a steamer which the church has chartered for the occasion. Expenses incurred with a view to profit, and profits lost, cannot be recovered from the owners of the vessel on their failure to make the stipulated voyage. Excursions, as matters of trade or business with the public, are not within the means or ends for which the church was incorporated. The measure of damages in a suit by the church against the owners is the amount paid as hire for the vessel.—[Supreme Court of Georgia.

ARGYLE IN NEWPORT.

HIS GRACE, THE DUKE OF ARGYLE'S IMPRESSIONS OF NEWPORT.—COMMON SENSE FROM A DISTINGUISHED GUEST.—THE NEW YORK STEAMERS.

The Duke of Argyle, who it will be remembered was here last summer, has contributed to Frazer's Magazine his impressions of America. We append what he has to say relative to our city:

I have already mentioned that few things in the New World surprised me more than the appearance of the country along the short railway line between Boston and Fall River. The great extent of what may be called uncleared or wild land in one of the oldest states of the Union is very curious. It is not, of course, primeval forest, but to a large extent it is what in Australia would be called "bush" and in India "jungle." It is land wholly uncultivated—much of it marshy or covered with thickets of pretty but useless wood. Here, as everywhere else in the Eastern states, it is obvious that the soils of poorer quality do not pay for cereal cultivation, or indeed for any cultivation at all. I should have thought that, if for nothing else, much of this waste surface might be profitably used for sheep pasture. But the truth is that the inexhaustible areas of land, which are naturally rich, in the far West, conveyed to the coast by the railway system, determine all industry and all enterprise in that direction. Thus even in the heart of Massachusetts and in the immediate vicinity of some of the oldest and most popular cities of the Union it is not worth while to lay out much capital on the reclamation of land comparatively poor.

Under the hospitable care of Mr. Cyrus Field we enjoyed a most agreeable visit to Newport, a watering-place on the coast of Rhode Island, which is the favorite resort of the most cultivated society in the United States. The handsome villas and houses of Newport are surrounded by well-kept lawns and shrubberies, and the principal drives are pleasantly shaded, in the New England fashion, by flourishing trees. On the Ocean Drive, which extends for some miles along the rocky shore, one can enjoy the freshest breezes of the Atlantic, which here washes the low cliffs and penetrates into the little creeks with waves of purest water and of the most lovely green. We visited the venerable old church and saw the pulpit from which the great Bishop Berkeley had discoursed to the colonists of Rhode Island, and a pleasant road along the shore to the northward led us to the rocks where he is said to have composed his "Minute Philosopher." It gave me great pleasure to renew my acquaintance with Mr. Bancroft, who so long and so worthily represented his Government in London. But it was with deep regret that I missed seeing Professor Agassiz, the distinguished son of a distinguished father, whose zealous pursuit of science and whose high attainments in many departments of knowledge promise to give fresh renown to an already illustrious name.

Our journey from Newport to New York was performed by sea, in one of those gigantic steamers which are more like immense floating hotels than boats of any kind, and which are peculiar to America. To see one of these immense vessels approach a pier or quay, on which one is standing, is quite a new sensation. It is the pier which seems to move, and not the vessel, which from the vastness of its proportions cannot be accepted, as it were, by the eye as a moving body. It is impossible by any effort to get rid of this illusion. The momentum of a floating body of such vast weight is, of course, enormous, and the slightest collision with any structure on the shore would be correspondingly destructive either to the vessel or to the pier. Consequently they have to come up to these places with the utmost caution, and nothing but great experience and great skill enables them to be brought alongside with the requisite nicety. By the kind permission of the captain we were allowed to be in the wheel-house in coming up to the pier at Newport. Although the water was perfectly calm, and there was no wind which could affect even that huge structure, there were six men at the wheel. The approach was made in perfect silence, with an intentness of attention on the part of the officers in command which showed the great care requisite in the operation. In many respects these great steamers are as comfortable as they can be—excellent sleeping cabins, excellent cooking, great speed and the utmost attention on the part of the service on board. But in my opinion they have one fault, and that is that very much too small a space of uncovered deck is left for the enjoyment of the scenery and of fresh air. Almost the whole area is occupied by the immense saloons, with all the closeness and stuffness which are inseparable from cabins, however large, especially when they are occupied by a great number of passengers of all kinds and classes, and when they are also lighted with gas. Only a very small space at either end of the vessel is perfectly uncovered and open to the air. The top of the whole structure, the roof of the "Noah's Ark"—the hurricane deck—is not available for passengers, and the gigantic "walking beam" of the engine which swings its arms on the top of every American steamer, would make it a dangerous walk for careless people.

THE RESIDENCE OF JAMES C. FLOOD.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial gives this detailed description of the house of James C. Flood, bonanza king, of San Francisco, a large interest in which Ulysses S. Grant, Jr., is soon to marry: The basement floor is divided into wine cellars, larders, fuel rooms, and has also the heating and ventilating apparatus. The ground floor contains the grand halls and staircases, the library, dining and billiard rooms, conservatory of music, dancing rooms, reception and drawing rooms, smoking rooms, a butler's pantry twenty feet square, smaller pantries, servants' offices, etc. The picture gallery is on the second floor. This room is lighted by handsomely designed ceiling lights of stained glass. The rest of the second floor is divided into boudoirs, guest chambers, family rooms, dressing apartments, bath rooms, where one may take a "common folks" bath, or luxuriate in the Turkish or Russian process, after the manner of "respectable people." The third floor is designed to furnish room for the small army of servants necessary to keep the wheels of this fine establishment greased and in running order. Slowly descending from the heights, the mosaic work of the floors, the mantels of various colored marbles, inlaid with onyx, malachite, and other costly stones; the frescoing of the ceilings, the variety of the woods used, the handsome carving and artistic finish of the entire building are noted. Passing out through the kitchen, which is formed in one lofty story, open to and ventilated at the roof, the magnificent conservatory is next visited. This is on as grand a scale as the house, and will always furnish choice flowers in sufficient quantities to decorate all the apartments of the mansion. The rarest plants will be cultivated, with blossoms dainty enough to adorn the bride of a B. K. Crossing a lawn to some distance in the rear, and to the right of the house, the stables appear. They might be mistaken for the residences of some of the people a trifle less favored than has been James C. Flood, Esq., B. K., but they are occupied by aristocratic horses, which would sniff the air contemptuously at the sight of the steady-going family horse, which goes regularly to mill on week days and to meeting on Sunday. There are sixteen boxes and stalls, with all the modern appliances for the comfort of the occupants. Private gas and water works supply the entire establishment, and every detail has been carefully looked after, making this one of the most elegant private residences in the world.

MRS. STEVENS'S BALL.

Mrs Frederick W. Stevens gave a magnificent ball Thursday night—the second given in her residence in New York this season. The interior of the mansion—a large double house of novel design—was profusely decorated with ferns, palms and floral emblems of the fete; and in addition to the light furnished by many gas jets, the ball room displayed a profusion of wax candles artistically arranged. The arrival of the guests commenced at half-past ten o'clock, and at half-past eleven Colonel Delancey Kane led in the German, favors for which were very handsome and elaborate Augot baskets of Jacqueminot roses. The music was led by Lander, and at half-past twelve a magnificent banquet was served by Pinard, after which the dancing was resumed and continued until a fashionably late hour. The number of invitations accepted was somewhat in excess of 500. Mr. Stevens has been offered $800,000 for his house by Mrs. Mackey, wife of the Nevada millionaire.

Sarah Bernhardt refers pathetically to herself in the following trifle sent to a Paris newspaper: "All the fairies were gathered together around the cradle of a child. The father and the mother were listening, with emotion and respect, to the wishes of each fairy. 'Child, thou shalt be beautiful, great and perfect in body: thou shalt wear golden crowns and be a hero! The crowd shall acclaim thee: thy admirers shall drag thy chariot; thou shalt make them laugh, weep, tremble and shudder. Poets shall shed their pearls at thy feet, musicians shall tune their lyre to sing thy praises. Thou shalt be loved by a hundred heroines. Poison and the dagger shall be powerless against thee: thy renown shall traverse mountains and seas.' The mother had fallen on her knees to thank the fairies; but the door opened brusquely, and the fairy of eternal glory appeared. 'I cannot,' she said, 'take back the presents of my sisters; but in order to punish you for your forgetfulness, here is my wish: The crowns of gold shall be crowns of cardboard; he shall laugh, he shall weep, he shall live, but by the will of another. Even those who shall have acclaimed him shall cruelly refuse him the distinctive sign given to the elite of citizens. The people whose idol he shall be shall break him in the fulness of his glory, and drag him all quivering with the applause of yesterday, behind the chariot of his new hero. His laurels shall change on his head into immortelles, and he shall die in sadness and oblivion, leaving nothing behind him!' 'What will he be, then?' cried the terrified father. 'He will be a comedian.' Then the fairy of death arose slowly 'Child, I will avenge thee,' it said: 'After thy death the rising artist shall be crushed by the weight of thy memory.'"

A general movement is being made to introduce the quail into Maine. The Sacadahoc Association has already voted to contribute to a general fund for this purpose, and other associations are asked to do so. The birds will be delivered in lots of 100 or more to the clubs or individuals subscribing, in numbers proportionate to each contribution. Everett Smith, Commissioner of Fisheries at Portland, has charge of the matter. The bird is well suited to the latitude of Maine. It is migratory, breeding in the North and spending the winter in the South. It lives on the ground and in fields, and its food consists largely of insects. It is a prolific breeder.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1880.

DOMESTIC GREETING.

As homeward comes the married man,
He's met by wife at door,
With fond embrace and loving kiss,
And "Baby's throat is sore!

"And did you think to stop at Brown's,
And get that new boat
I ordered yesterday?—And, dear,
Fred's boots are all worn out.

"I'm glad you are so early, John,
So much I want you, dear—
I've had a letter from mamma;
She's coming to live here.

"How very glad you look, dear John,
I knew that you would be—
The doctor's out, the cut er, and,
You must send some to me too.

"That plumber has been here again—
If you don't pay he'll sue;
And Mr. Freidgie called in
To say your rent was due.

"Fred's trousers are half cotton, John,
You thought they were all wool—
Oh! just remember that your son
Was whipped today at school.

"The roof has leaked and spoiled the rugs
Upon the upper hall;
And Jane must go, the careless thing,
She let the mirror fall.

"Today, as she was moving it,
(The large one, dear John),
Of course it broke; it also broke
The lamp it fell upon.

"What makes you look so grave, my love?
Take off your things and wipe
Your feet—and only think, today
Jane broke your meerschaum pipe.

"Oh, John! that horrid, horrid word!
You don't love me, dear;
I wish that I—boo hoo—were dead—
You're cross as any bear."

Jane (under nine) to her governess—"Miss Blunt, when ma asks you to have some more wine at dinner today, do, please say yes." "Why? What do you wish me to take more wine for?" Jane—"Oh, I only want to see ma's face."

Two doctors in conversation. Enter bore, anxious to be witty. Bore—"Now if we had an undertaker we might have a funeral." First doctor—"When will you be a corpse?" Second doctor—"Oh no, he wouldn't do, you couldn't keep his mouth shut." Exeunt bore.

Jones, who was inveighing against the shortcomings of Benson, the custom house inspector, was reproved by Brownlow with the charitable remark: "You shouldn't judge Benson so harshly, Jones; put yourself in his place, now"—"That's just what I have been trying to do the last six months." broke in Jones, unthinkingly giving himself away.

J. A. WILLIAMS, the original, is ready to take and fill orders for this style of pictures at his room, No. 1 Touro block, Bellevue avenue, Newport, R. I. The Artotype process is good enough to satisfy the most exacting and will for this reason receive opposition from none but those who will have lost all opportunity to benefit by its immense advantage. The artotypes are far superior to Silver Prints or old style Photo made from the same negative with the additional merit of being as permanent as a steel engraving. Artotype is a name given by the proprietor of a patent for printing by means of a process in fatty inks and in colored inks. The price of photo in silver I will take for about one half of the old process or less than any other Photographer charges for the same style of work. J. A. W.

BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER
That the public may be protected against Imitations and Fraud we specially caution all purchasers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS to see that the word CAPCINE on each plaster is spelled correctly. Do not allow some other plaster to be palmed off under similar sounding names, with the assurance that it is the same thing or as good. Bear in mind that the only object such vendor can have is the fact that they can buy imitations at half the price of the genuine, and they hope by this substitution to gain a small additional profit.
